Slap Haddock presents

A NIGHT AT THE PICTURES

WOOD STREET INDOOR MARKET

28 - 31 MAY

A Night at the Pictures is a series of live, interactive, promenade performances at the Wood Street Indoor Market in Walthamstow this May.

Back in 2012 members of Slap Haddock created a show entitled A Night at the Dogs about the Walthamstow Stadium and performed it at the Wood Street Indoor Market. Then, after discovering that the market was once a vibrant cinema in an area littered with film studios, Nick Cassenbaum and Emily Harwood decided that they had to return to Wood Street with an entirely brand new show. Through a series of interactive performances, this production celebrates the greatest movie genres and the most exciting movie characters that Walthamstow has ever seen.

“Get in line as we open the doors to Wood Street’s finest cinema and treat you to a Night at the Pictures like never before. Performances that will appeal to every member of the family - sometimes hilariously funny, sometimes intensely dramatic - but always entertaining. Feast your eyes as we present the greatest Western, Comedy, Film Noire, Musical, Drama and Sci-Fi you’ve ever been lucky enough to throw your popcorn at. This truly is a picture for everyone!”

In addition to the performances, there will be an ongoing community film installation created by Rare Moustache to be housed in the re-imagined vintage cinema within the Wood Street Indoor Market and also online. Slap Haddock are also offering professionally led community workshops for local elderly care homes, primary schools and secondary schools.

Slap Haddock is a theatre company that aims to make work for and with communities in non-traditional spaces; allowing them to fully engage with the arts and their area in unexpected and exciting ways.

This production will be produced by Slap Haddock and Robin Rayner.

It is supported by Arts Council England, Soho Theatre, Landcom London and Take Stock Exchange.
